

WHITAKER'S LIFE DEVOTED LARGELY TO PUBLIC SERVICE

Candidate for Supreme Court
Bench Father of World
Peace Movement.

AGAINST SCHOOL FADS.

President of Bar Association and Adviser to Grover Cleveland When Governor.

Edward G. Whitaker, who is a candidate on the regular Democratic ticket for the Supreme Court bench this fall, has been for many years one of the Governors of the Manhattan Club, among the members of which he is as respected as he is popular. He was born in the City of New York in 1855 and was educated at Southampton and in Germany. He studied law in New York and at Sag Harbor.

In 1884 Mr. Whitaker was a candidate for member of the Assembly on the Democratic ticket, but as he refused to sign pledges, he was defeated. That same year he was appointed Deputy Attorney-General, and he served as such for eight years. He was also the legal adviser of Grover Cleveland during the time the latter was Governor.

While he was Deputy Attorney-General Mr. Whitaker was connected with many important cases. Among them was the Broadway Railroad litigation and the People against the North River Sugar Refining Company, the first trial ever formed. The action resulted in the complete victory for the people and the company was dissolved. There have been no trusts formed in New York State since that time.

Mr. Whitaker was elected president of the State Bar Association in 1897 and re-elected at the end of his term. During his presidency he suggested and carried out many reforms, among them the improved system of printing and distributing the court decisions in advance sheets, &c., the distribution of the statutes as soon as passed, the present system for the examination of candidates for admission to the bar, and that for the registration of lawyers. It was previous to Mr. Whitaker's first term as President of the New York State Bar Association that President Cleveland wrote the famous Venezuelan letter, which caused the agitation and possibility of war between England and the United States. Mr. Whitaker made international arbitration one of the themes of his annual address, and the association, being strongly impressed with the force of Mr. Whitaker's plea and acting upon his suggestion, appointed a committee of which he was appointed chairman to formulate a plan for an international court of arbitration to consist of representatives of a certain number of countries. This committee worked a long time upon the matter, and finally formulated a complete scheme for such a court which was endorsed by the association, which had it printed and distributed to all the prominent divines, rulers and statesmen of the world. It was the receipt of this plan which induced the Czar of Russia to call for the first Hague Conference, and England and America to formulate a Treaty of Arbitration, which, however, was never adopted. Thus the New York State Bar Association, under Mr. Whitaker's administration, became the father of the present world-wide peace movement.

Mr. Whitaker, the late Gen. Sherman, and Robert B. Roosevelt were appointed by the Legislature a commission to codify the game laws of the State and to confer with the Canadian authorities upon the feasibility of a uniform law regarding the catching of fish in waters adjacent to Canada and New York. Mr. Whitaker also wrote and published "Whitaker's Game Code," a popular work for sportsmen.

For three years Mr. Whitaker served as a member of the Board of Education of the City of New York, and, as Chairman of a Committee on Studies, Bylaws and Legislation, strongly advocated the abolition of what was commonly known as "fads" in our schools. He strove for a simpler and more useful course of studies.

Mr. Whitaker is now engaged in practicing law at No. 2 Broadway. He lives in West End avenue and has a summer home in Southampton, New York. He is a son of the late George W. Whitaker, who for many years practiced law in New York City.

LOYOLAS TO GIVE A NEW MUSICAL COMEDY TO-NIGHT.
It Will Be a Great Event in Celebration of the Twentieth Anniversary.

The Loyola Union, that energetic Yorkville association of St. Ignace Church, will hold the boards at Terrace Garden to-night when will be presented "Stranded," a two-act musical comedy specially written and composed for the occasion. It is the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the organization and there will be rare jinks to celebrate the event.

The plot of "Stranded" deals with a musical comedy troupe stranded in a small Western town. They are refused credit by the local hotel man of the town, who with the sheriff seizes their baggage for board due. A happy thought strikes one of the troupe, they arrange with the hotel man to put on a cabaret show in the dining room of his hotel where his business had been very poor. The talent is furnished by the troupe and the hotel does a big business.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR SUPREME COURT TO ROUND OUT CAREER.

EDWARD G. WHITAKER.

NONE OF 'EM GETS
LA FOLLETTE'S VOTE.

Wisconsin Senator Says He Is Not for Wilson, Taft or Roosevelt.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 22.—Senator Robert M. La Follette in a speech last night declared that he would not vote for Roosevelt, Taft or Wilson. He compared the suppression of competition through the growth of trusts to a huge cancer, the treatment of which requires great skill.

"It is no joke for a Bull Moose," said Senator La Follette, "and judging by what has happened in the last four years, it does not seem to be a job for an amiable, easy-going man. A fellow over in New Jersey has been running a hospital with pretty good success, but he has not treated cancer."

"I will not vote for any of these three men," Senator La Follette said that he still believed in a protective policy, but believed it should be gauged on the basis of the real difference between the cost of production here and abroad.

A Fine Car for Hills.
(From the Cardiff Western Mail.)
A few days ago a motor car stopped about half way up a Pembrokeshire hill. The owner, who was driving, did his best to get it to start again, but failed. An old farmer came on the scene and asked what the matter was. The motorist replied: "Hang it! I've been stuck here on this beastly hill for an hour, and the maker told me it was a splendid car for hills." The farmer then said: "Mebbe 'e meant comin' down!"

WOMAN HURRIED FROM CELL DIES; SKULL FRACTURED

Mrs. Fay Locked Up Several Hours Before Injuries Are Noted by Matron.

The death of Mrs. Emma Fay, thirty-six years old, of No. 22 Commerce street, is being investigated to-day by the police and Coroner's Office. After she had spent several hours in a cell on a charge of intoxication she was found unconscious and taken to Bellevue, where she died shortly before midnight, from a fractured skull.

The woman was noticed yesterday afternoon wandering about at Cherry and Heigars streets with a crowd of children jeering her, and Policeman Cummings of the Madison street station arrested her. When questioned her mumbled replies were unintelligible. There is no matron at the Madison street station, so she was taken to the East Fifth street station, and several hours later the matron found her unconscious. When examined by Dr. Hawkins of Bellevue several lumps and lacerations were found on her head, and it was discovered that her skull was fractured.

It was thought she had fallen, but when Detective McJee questioned her during a conscious moment she said she was struck on the head with a hammer two weeks ago.

"I am not, and hurt myself," she said. "It was a hammer."

"Your skull is fractured," she was told.

"Then it's been fractured for two weeks," she replied.

According to the police, Mrs. Fay said her husband, Samuel, struck her during an argument two weeks ago, was arrested on her complaint, and sentenced to three years in Sing Sing. She said he had already begun to serve his term, and referred to herself as "a widow."

She said she had been drinking for a week "to forget." The police are investigating her story, and the Coroner has ordered an autopsy.
